02 Getting stronger

Using contrast to structure an argument

GETTING STRONGER

MODERATE CONFIDENCE

2 pieces of evidence · 2 activities · first seen 24

September 2026 · last seen 29 September 2026

AI INTERPRETATION

You increasingly organise a paragraph around a contrast ("not X, but Y"), and it makes your line of reasoning easier to follow.

FACT · EVIDENCE

Your work · Unit 03 · INTERPRET · 03i7 · 28 September 2026

"The study suggests that recall may be shaped by later conversations."

Your work · Unit 02 · THINK · 02t4 · 28 September 2026

"This shows clearly that we become different people in another language."

03 Recurring patterns

Strong claims stated without hedging

RECURRING

MODERATE CONFIDENCE

3 pieces of evidence · 3 activities · first seen 24 September 2026 · last seen 29 September 2026

AI INTERPRETATION

In three activities you present an inference as a proven fact ("proves", "clearly", "always"). In 03i7 you hedged well, so this looks like a habit under time pressure rather than a gap in knowledge.

Worth one deliberate check before submitting open answers.

FACT · EVIDENCE

Your work · Unit 01 · INTERPRET · i8 (Inference) · 28 September 2026

"The author proves that memory is completely rewritten every time."

Your work · Unit 02 · THINK · 02t4 · 28 September 2026

"This shows clearly that we become different people in another language."

Your work · Unit 03 · WRITE · 03w1 · 28 September 2026

"Memory is always unreliable, so no testimony can be trusted."

FACT · COUNTER-EVIDENCE

Your work · Unit 03 · INTERPRET · 03i7 · 28 September 2026

"The study suggests that recall may be shaped by later conversations."

04 Not enough evidence yet

Article use with abstract nouns

Seen once so far. A single occurrence is not treated as a difficulty.

AI SUGGESTION

1. Before submitting 04i3 and 04i6, underline every verb of certainty and decide if the evidence supports it.

Three recent answers overstate certainty; one hedged answer shows you can do it.

06 Proposed adaptations

None. The evidence in this period does not justify changing the next unit.

07 Warnings and uncertainties

- FACT Earlier AI feedback was treated as secondary evidence: no pattern rests on it alone.
- AI Evidence comes mostly from INTERPRET; writing is represented by one text only.
